Abstract:

When we interacted with middle aged group persons (i.e.; 40-60 years old); we observed that some of them are suffering from neck pain and back pain. Few of them informed that they are suffering from neck pain and back pain and they are using separate neck support belt and back support belt simultaneously. Even though they use both belts they are not satisfied and unable to get complete relief, hence the problem we identified is neck and back pain. We feel that instead of using two individual supports simultaneously , a single support should be required from neck bone to back bone, so that it gives relief from both pains simultaneously and not allows them to bend more during their working hours.
